

Marvell Foods, a USDA Subcontractor/Supplier
Readies Operations to Support Fourth Round
Funding, $500 Million Awarded for Farmers to Families Food Box Program

The USDA Farmers to Families Food Box Program was created to support Farmers, the food supply chain at large, and American families severely impacted by COVID 19 pandemic. The program provides funding that supports the financing of food boxes to families hardest hit by the pandemic, millions of people feeling the impact of unemployment, and the increasing need for food for many Americans across the country.

"The pandemic has caused a complete disruption in the lives of American's," says Marilyn Raybin, President of Marvell Foods, one of the nation's top food brokerage, food trading companies. Marvell Foods has emerged as a significant Subcontractor/Supplier to the BOA Holders/Contract Awardees, as well as the nation's leading food processors and manufacturers.

"Our more than 30 years in the food industry has allowed us to quickly ramp up our operations and connect critical industry food players, such as food processors and manufacturers, to expedite the production of food products distributed to American families across the nation," says Raybin, a third-generation, family-owned company.
